ENGIE has signed an agreement with Gabonese financial institution, Caisse des Dépôts et Consignations (CDC), to deploy eight hybrid solar plants in Gabon, with a combined capacity of 2.2MW. Under the deal, solar energy will be supplied in locations that currently draw electricity from oil-fired thermal power stations.

A 1.56 MWp solar system will soon be installed on the port's premises, located 21 kilometers from Gabon's capital, Libreville. The project is financed by British International Investment (BII), a British financial institution.

Gabon's Owendo Mineral Port will advance its low-emission goals with a $2.6 million investment from British International Investment to install a 1.56 MWp solar system and 1 MW battery storage. The project which is located 21 kilometres from Libreville aims to reduce the port's carbon footprint and enhance operational efficiency.

The company reportedly said it aims to expand the facility to 30 MW under a power purchase agreement (PPA) with state utility Société d'Energie et d'Eau du Gabon (SEEG). The project is expected to power 300,000 homes and create 150 direct jobs.
