How does GregTech 4s magic energy absorber work?

It combines GregTech 4s Magic Energy Absorber and the Dragon Egg Energy Siphon into one generator. Once the Dragon Egg is placed on top of the magic energy absorber it will start producing its full output. An anti-cheat measure added by Gregtech prevents the placement of more than one Dragon Egg at the time.

What is a magic energy converter?

Novice, left, Adept, right, and Master Energy Converters, bottom. Magic Energy Converters are EU power generators added by GregTech but based on Thaumcraft. There are three levels, Novice (LV), Adept (MV) and Master (HV), which output 1A of their tier's voltage when fuelled. Power is output from the grey, orange or yellow dot side of the block.

Is thaumcraft compatible with GregTech 4s magic energy absorber?

This machine is compatible with Thaumcraft. It combines GregTech 4s Magic Energy Absorber and the Dragon Egg Energy Siphon into one generator. Once the Dragon Egg is placed on top of the magic energy absorber it will start producing its full output.

What happens if you put a dragon egg on a magic energy absorber?

Once the Dragon Egg is placed on top of the magic energy absorber it will start producing its full output. An anti-cheat measure added by Gregtech prevents the placement of more than one Dragon Egg at the time. Placing more will cause the Eggs to explode, taking the siphon with it.

Is there a lossless power transfer in a GT block?

Any GT Block outputting EU has an energy loss on output. This means there is no such thing as lossless power transfer. A power outputting single block will take EU from its internal buffer and output EU (which is always the maximum EU one amp of that voltage tier can hold).
