

How much do solar panels cost per square foot?

On average, solar panels cost $8.77 per square foot of living space, after factoring in the 30% tax credit. However, the cost per square foot varies based on the size of the home. For example, the post-tax credit cost of solar panels for a 2,500-square-foot home is around $20,000 for a rate of $7.96 per square foot.

Is financing solar panels worth it?

Financing solar panels is worth it if the loan payments are cheaper than your current utility bill. Leasing a system is cheaper upfront, but you won't get the federal tax credit. The average 5-kilowatt (kW) solar panel system is $14,210 before considering any financial incentives.

Should you buy solar panels from a full-service installer?

If you purchase through a full-service installer, you will likely get a lower price for each panel than buying them individually from a retail store. It's worth noting (as we'll explore further below) that solar modules typically make up less than 20% of the overall cost of a home installation.

Are solar panels a good investment?

Homeowners with solar panels avoid $62,219 in total utility costs over 25 years, on average. The federal solar investment tax credit (ITC) is the most significant financial incentive for most homeowners going solar. You might be able to combine the ITC with local tax breaks or rebates.

Why are residential solar panels so expensive?

Since 2010, residential solar panel prices have fallen by roughly 50% while US solar deployment has grown by over 2,000%. The slight rise in residential solar pricing from 2020-2023 is largely attributed to supply chain tangles from the pandemic.

Should you lease or buy solar panels?

Leasing or Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs): With solar leasing or PPAs, homeowners can "rent" solar panels from a third-party provider and pay a fixed monthly fee for the electricity generated. While this option requires little to no upfront costs, the long-term savings may be lower compared to ownership.

The cost to go solar as a renter depends on the solar options you have. While you likely will not be spending nearly anywhere near the tens of thousands that your landlord will be spending if...
