The world has again taken one step towards its ever-changing landscape of renewable energy. WAVJA, a US-based company, introduced PES (Photon Energy System). PES is a green energy system that converts light into electrical energy. A set of tiny ball-like structures that are 200 times more efficient than a traditional solar panel.

New York-based innovation company WAVJA is attempting to reimagine solar energy technology with the creation of its Photon Energy Systems -- tiny spheres that could transform how light is harnessed to generate electricity. Unlike traditional commercial solar panels, which are typically over six feet wide, these new devices are small enough to ...
